

Inter-School Mock Interviews for P.6 Students from NPCVRGPs

“TO SERVE, NOT TO BE SERVED” is our school motto. At Concordia, we live up to the motto not only by volunteering amongst students, but also through running joint-school programs cultivating a serving and sharing culture in the district. Recently, to better-equip students with essential skills in admission interviews, we worked with our neighbouring school, North Point Government Primary School (Cloud View Road) to conduct the debut inter-school mock interviews for more than 70 primary school pupils on January 15 and 18, 2021. Through close collaboration, about 30 teachers from the language departments of both schools were involved in the mock interviews.

During the online interviews, students had valuable opportunities to participate in individual presentations as well as group discussions by using both Chinese and English languages. All students participated were well-prepared and serious in their attitude. Immediate feedback and reflections were given to each student by the teachers.

We were grateful and delighted to know that students found the simulation experience fruitful and practical. It is hoped that all participating students have successfully equipped themselves with effective techniques for an interview and they would find the skills and strategies they learned useful in the days to come.

Believe in yourself. Good luck on your interviews!

Professional Exchange with NPCVRGPS

Teachers at Concordia are highly motivated in keeping up with modern pedagogy and current education trends. We always strive for excellence to enhance our teaching and learning effectiveness. In addition to conducting individual professional development, we are honoured to have arranged an online professional exchange with enthusiastic teachers from North Point Government Primary School (Cloud View Road) in January 2021.

We first started off by sharing briefly about our school-based curriculum in junior secondary, including our observations about the challenges that students have in common. Teachers from both schools also shared about their effective teaching strategies and good practices on facilitating student's learning. We have made use of this precious opportunity to get to know more about the difficulties students have in primary, and as teachers, we could see a bigger picture of the gap between the two key stages. We can then refine our teaching plan accordingly to better bridge the gap between. From the professional dialogue, we have gained valuable insights on how to smoother learners' transitions from primary to secondary and optimise their learning.

Both schools will continue the meaningful learning circle and we are looking forward to more professional exchange and collaboration for the benefits of our new generation.
